Description

Right Choice Properties are proud to present to the market this incredible development opportunity

The property located on Saint John's Road, together with the A641 is one of the primary routes into Huddersfield town centre from the north. The property is approximately 0.5 miles to the north of Huddersfield town centre, on the western side of Saint John's Road.

The property is ideally suited for conversion to residential apartments. However, the site is on the edge of Huddersfield town centre, and so is suitable for a commercial or mixed-use scheme.

Previously a Victorian-era woollen mill and dye works. The site is stone built, displaying an imposing 19th century facade, with the centre building known as Excelsior House.

In more recent times, the northern sections of the complex were last occupied by Strongbow Window Systems Ltd, whilst Excelsior House was last used by Bowers Bakery Service which closed in the 1980s.

Whilst permissions were granted in 2010 to 2018 to convert the main building known as Excelsior House into a residential and student accommodation building and other potential developments, the site has struggled to find a developer. Due to this and the weather conditions over the years it has led to parts of the roof collapsing, exposing the interior in areas.

The subject property is a substantial brick built former factory, later being used as offices. The accommodation is arranged over ground and first floors and is predominantly open plan, making this an excellent opportunity for conversion to a variety of other commercial and residential uses.

SALE AGREED

To the rear of the site there is a large yard area which can be accessed via the blue doors to the left-hand side of the front elevation.

The property is currently in a derelict state of building. Viewings will be held by appointments only.
